Course Overview

What is Ripple Effect?

Ripple Effect is a Christian discipleship course for evangelism. Ripple Effect is an accessible and comprehensive course that will help you:

- Better understand the good news about Jesus yourself
- Love family and friends who don't know Jesus by praying for them regularly
- Develop skills in talking about Jesus
- Learn how to live a life always 'on mission' and ready to serve God
- Hear what God is doing in and through others as you pray for them

Who is Ripple Effect for?

This course is for you if you want to 'dive' into evangelism or just want to dip your toe in the water. Expect God to create ripples that impact others in ways you never would have imagined.

Depending where you are on your Christian journey, you should begin with Module 1 and/or 2 to establish gospel themes and learn frameworks used in later modules.

Why does Ripple Effect work?

The course is built around small groups of people meeting weekly to engage with the brief session video and session guide. These weekly meetings are where discipleship happens and are crucial to the momentum of Ripple Effect. For each session, the group will:

SHARE

Share stories of evangelistic opportunities since the last session to encourage and seek wisdom from others in the group. God is always working.

PRAY

Praise God for his love, salvation, and the privilege of evangelism. Ask God to save our family and friends and use us to help them come to know and trust Jesus.

TRAIN

Improve confidence and competence in evangelism by learning, practicing, and reviewing skills that enable us to speak about Jesus in a natural and unforced manner.

What does Ripple Effect cover?

The Ripple Effect course is made up of 6 modules. You will find the modules cohesive as they build on gospel themes and frameworks. Each module contains 8 sessions.

MODULE 1 | Jesus & Me

Talking about Jesus and His impact on me

MODULE 2 | Jesus & Conversation (This Module)

Talking about the gospel in everyday conversations

MODULE 3 | The Real Jesus

MODULE 4 | Apologetics

Answering the questions people have about Jesus and Christianity

MODULE 5 | Knowing Jesus

MODULE 6 | Jesus & Mission

Sharing the gospel to everyone

Acknowledgements

We gratefully acknowledge the AFES's generosity in allowing material that was developed by their staff to be turned into Ripple Effect.

We would also like to thank SOMA, Rebecca Manley Pippert, Tim Keller and Sam Chan for their work on evangelism training. They have helped shape our thinking and inspired us.

Session 1

Deeper Relationships

We all have unique, God-given opportunities to share Jesus and our life with people. Prayerfully making the most of them.

Module Introduction

We may not all be gifted evangelists (although some of us are!) but we all have a unique set of opportunities to share our lives and Jesus with those around us.

In this module we seek to make the most of these God-given opportunities by learning how the gospel connects with everyday conversations in ways that are organic and natural. God-willing, it will also help us grow in our own faith as we better understand how knowing Jesus intersects with all aspects of our lives.

Introduce yourself to the group and share something about why you are participating in Ripple Effect.

- What do you think of when you hear the word 'evangelism'?
- How do you feel about evangelism?

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 1.

- What did you learn from Martine's experience of evangelistic conversations?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Deeper Relationships?

Everyone has unique opportunities to share Jesus and life with the people around them. In today's session we will ask God to help us 'see' the people he has placed in our lives, commit to praying regularly for them, and start intentionally seeking to deepen our relationship with them.

Share

This is our first session so we will spend some time getting to know each other. Introduce yourself to the group and share something about the key people God placed in your life to help you become or grow as a Christian. They might be family, friends, church leaders, etc.

- What did they say to you about Jesus?
- How did they live for Jesus in ways that were striking?

Don't feel like you need to cover all these areas; they are just prompts. There will be plenty of time in coming sessions to hear more about each other! Set a timer and give each person five minutes.

God placed these people in our lives to help us come to know and love Jesus. God also places us in other people's lives to help them come to know and love Jesus. Using the Relationship Network Worksheet at the end of this session, spend five minutes 'seeing' the people that God has placed in your life who don't yet know Jesus.

- From this worksheet, choose five people that you see or could see regularly to pray for.
- Choose one of these people and tell the group a little about them, and your relationship with them. What do you talk about with each other? As you share, please remember to respect people's privacy!
- Keep a note of each other's friends so that you can pray for them.

Train

We'll now turn to the Bible and read Paul's description of how and why he shared the gospel with the Thessalonians. Read 1 Thessalonians 2:1-13.

1. Why did Paul live with them and speak to them about Jesus?
2. What images does Paul use to describe how he feels about the Thessalonians?
3. How do Paul's words and life demonstrate his love for the Thessalonians?
4. What was Paul's role in the Thessalonians becoming Christian? What was God's role? (See also 1 Thessalonians 1:4-6.)
 - a. Paul's role
 - b. God's role

5. What do you find encouraging about this passage? What do you find challenging?

Because Paul wanted to please God and because he loved the Thessalonians, he shared the gospel and his life with them. As Paul spoke the words God gave him, with the help God gave him, God's Spirit worked in the Thessalonians to bring them to faith. God changed Paul and the impact of that rippled through every relationship and conversation he was in.

In this module we will ask God to do the same things in and through us, as we intentionally share our lives with the people God places around us.

We will seek to share the gospel with integrity and gentleness as we build real relationships of trust and love. God-willing, we will discover that our unique histories and experiences, in our unique network of relationships, give us unique opportunities to lovingly share our lives and Jesus with others.

May the gospel of grace ripple through our words and lives, and then out from us to the people around us.

Pray

Because we loved you so much, we were delighted to share with you not only the gospel of God but our lives as well.

1 Thessalonians 2:8 (NIV)

- | Thank God for those who shared their life and the gospel with you.
- | Thank God for those who you can share your life and the gospel with.
- | Ask God to help you so say with Paul: Because we loved you so much, we were delighted to share with you not only the gospel of God but our lives as well.
- | Pray for each other and each other's friends.

Some members of the group may feel more comfortable praying out loud than others. Please remember that a one-sentence prayer written down and read out is just as authentic as a five-minute prayer prayed spontaneously.

Homework

- Complete the Relationship Network Worksheet.

Relationship Network Worksheet

Unless we pause and reflect, we may not realise the opportunities that God has given us to proclaim the gospel to others.

Use the following diagram to:

- | identify the different relationship networks in your life.
- | list the names of people who aren't Christian that you know in your network.

As you look at your relationship network, ask yourself 'Is my list broad enough?'

Here are some ideas to broaden your list.

- | someone who catches the train at the same time you do.
- | an old school friend you saw at a wedding.
- | someone who walks the dog at the same park.
- | a 'blast from the past' whose name appeared in your Facebook feed.
- | a person at the gym.

As you look at your relationship network:

- | underline the names of people you see regularly, even if you don't know them very well yet.
- | circle the names of people you expect to see next week.

→ Choose 5 of these people to pray for regularly.

→ Reflect

1. How might their lives be better if they knew Jesus?
2. Where and when do you see them?
3. What do you talk about?
4. How can you start to be more intentional in the way you share Jesus and your life with them?

Try to be specific in your answers to these questions.

Session 2

Deeper Conversations

Good questions encourage deeper conversations about what people really think. Learning to ask, encourage and answer questions.

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 2.

- What did you learn from Jeri and Joseph's conversation about how evangelism impacts people?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Deeper Conversations?

Asking good questions, and listening to the answers people give, is a great way to encourage deeper conversations. In today's session we'll think about how to ask, encourage and answer questions in ways that enable real engagement with each other as we live life together.

Train

Jesus spent time with all sorts of people. He wasn't picky. He spent time with outcasts (= tax-collectors and sinners) and leaders (= Pharisees etc.) While he was with them, Jesus asked all sorts of questions about what they really thought. He also did and said things that encouraged people to ask Him questions. He sometimes even answered questions with questions.

Read Luke 7:36-50. We see an example of Jesus asking questions to help uncover what people really think and feel.

1. What happens? Is there anything that surprises or challenges you?
2. What questions does Jesus ask Simon? What do these questions reveal or challenge about Simon's attitude to Jesus, himself and others?

Share

- Choose two more of the five people you committed to praying for regularly and tell the group a little about your relationship with them. What do you talk about with each other? Take time to consider how their lives would be better if they knew Jesus.
- Keep a note of each other's friends so that you can pray for them.

Pray

To answer before listening—that is folly and shame.

Proverbs 18:13 (NIV)

- | Thank God for the forgiveness, salvation and peace that Jesus gives to everyone who trusts Him.
- | Ask God to give you the courage to offer conversations that go deeper, even if it feels uncomfortable initially.
- | Ask God to help you listen well so that you know what questions to ask people.

Homework

Jesus was a master at asking questions that helped people wrestle with their underlying heart issues about identity, longing, fear, passions, and beliefs. Some of us do this instinctively. Many of us find it a little harder. We can all get better with practice.

- Watch the Karen Morris "Conversation Spiral."
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5ybNa2rM6cc>

Choose two of the friends you're praying for. For each person:

- Make a note of some of the things you talk about.
- Choose one of those topics and try writing out a few questions for each of the three categories Karen speaks about.

OR

- Review a conversation you had this week with one of the people you're praying for. If you had your time again, think about which questions you could have asked to offer a deeper conversation.

	General question / topic	Specific Question	God Question
Person 1
Person 2

Tip: Gregory Koukl is a Christian apologist. He has three generic go-to questions that he finds helpful:

- What do you mean by that?
- Why do you think that?
- What difference does that make to you?

Turning these into specific questions for each conversation will help you generate some questions to get you started.

- Use your group chat to encourage each other in prayer. Perhaps you could message the group to:
- let them know when you prayed for them and their family and friends.
 - ask them to pray for evangelistic conversations you have had or would like to have.

Session 3

Creation and Identity

In Christ, we are not only creatures dependent on our creator, we are children of God. Knowing our God-given identity.

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 3.

- What did you learn from Hayley and Lindsay's conversation about evangelistic conversations?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Creation and Identity?

In the last session we talked about deepening our relationships through deeper conversations. We considered how asking, answering, and encouraging good questions facilitates trust and deeper conversations about life, Jesus and the difference knowing Him makes.

- How easy or challenging did you find the homework?

Train

The Bible tells the story of God's relationship with us and our world. Over the next few sessions, we'll reflect on the main stages of God's story: Creation, Fall, Redemption, Re-creation and Transformation.

Using passages from John's gospel, we'll investigate how each stage of God's story answers some of the big questions people ask about life. As we do so, we'll look for everyday words that connect Biblical truths about Jesus with everyday conversations.

This session focuses on Creation. Knowing that God created us, and what he created us for, helps us answer questions about identity and purpose; questions like 'who am I?', 'do I matter?' and 'what is the purpose of my life?'

God's Story: Creation

John's Gospel begins in the same way as Genesis – In the beginning – except that this time, Jesus Christ, our creator, enters His creation. Read John 1:1-18.

1. Make a list of everything John tells us about 'the Word.'

2. Use your observations to answer the following questions. What does this passage tell us about:
 - a. Jesus?
 - Who He is.

 - Why He came into the world.

 - b. People/Humanity.
 - Who we are. (Who am I?)

 - Why we matter. (Why do I matter?)

 - c. the world we live in. (Why does it matter?)

 - d. God
 - Who He is.

 - What He wants for His people and creation. (What is my purpose?)

Notice how John 1 helps us answer questions 'who am I?', 'do I matter?' and 'what is the purpose of my life?'.

'The Word becoming flesh' is a powerful testimony to God's ongoing love for and commitment to His creation. Jesus became human so that we might know God as Father. In Christ, we are not only creatures dependent on our creator, we are children of God who are known and loved by Him.

We find a find a secure identity, dignity, and purpose for ourselves and others. The grace and truth, light and life, that God created us for, and that Jesus enables us to enjoy, ripples through our lives, our relationships, and our world.

Our Story: Identity – Who am I?

Everyone needs to work out who they are and why they matter. We all need purpose and direction for our lives. The answers we come up with will also have implications for how we treat other people and the world we live in. These questions are an opening for the gospel.

In the following table you'll find some practice conversations. They use the Conversation Spiral we learnt in homework to plot a series of questions that might nudge a conversation towards Jesus.

Please note, the God Questions section has been divided into two parts. Part A focusses on values, opinions, and the meaning of life. Part B is a direct invitation to talk about God and Jesus.

After looking at the worked examples, chose one of the topics and come up with some questions in each column. If one of your group members is in a real-life conversation about human meaning and purpose, then use that rather than our imaginary ones.

General question / topic	Specific questions about the heart, feelings and personal impact.	God Question Part A: Questions about values, opinions and the meaning of life.	God Question Part B: Direct questions about God, Creation and Identity.
	Our story	→	God's story
My parents made me who I am today.	Why do say that that? Why were they so influential? What other questions could you ask?	What does it mean to be part of a family? Why are families so powerful in determining who we are? What other questions could you ask?	What do you imagine it would be like to be part of God's family? Can I share with you how Jesus makes me who I am today? What other questions could you ask?

Womens equality is really important.	Why do you say that? Have you been treated unequally? Or has someone you know? What other questions could you ask?	What is human equality based on? Is equality really enough? What other questions could you ask?	If all people were created and loved by God, what type of basis would that create for equality? Can I share with you about Jesus who treats us equally because he loves us equally? What other questions could you ask?
I've worked hard to get where I am.
Your own topic –

The ideas we have discussed under Creation and Identity could connect with conversations about:

- Human dignity and value.
- Identity issues around race, gender, economics, etc.
- Value derived from success and achievement.
- Family and belonging.
- Beauty, value and care of creation.

Share

- Share about last two people you committed to praying for regularly. Tell the group a little about your relationship with them. What do you talk about with each other? Take time to consider how their lives would be better if they knew Jesus.
- Keep a note of each other's friends so that you can pray for them.

Pray

... to all who did receive him, to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God ...

John 1:12 (NIV)

- | Thank God for the blessings mentioned in John 1:1-18.

Conversations are rarely linear and predictable. We can practise how to create conversational bridges between daily conversation and Jesus and the deeper questions in life, but because this is genuine dialogue, we need to pray that our family and friends want to cross the bridge with us.

- | Pray for an opportunity to share about being a child of God with family and friends.
- | Pray that our friends might know God in Christ and become children of God. Pray for each other's friends by name.

Homework

God's Story

We've approached this topic through John 1, but it is not even close to everything the Bible says about this topic. For a boarder perspective on the Bible's teaching on Creation and Identity we can look at other passages. In Module 1: Jesus and Me, we looked at Genesis 1.

- Read Colossians 1:15-23.
 - What does this passage tell us about Jesus' relationship with:
 - God
 - Creation
 - Humanity

- How does it start to help us answer the questions:
 - Who am I? Who are we?

 - What is my purpose?

 - Why do I matter? Why do you matter?

Our Story

- Consider the friends you are praying for.
 - For one of them, how do you think they might answer these questions?
 - Who am I? Who are we?

 - What is my purpose?

 - Why do I matter? Why do you matter?

If you don't know how to answer these questions, notice the things they talk about, what they hope for and dream about, how they introduce themselves, where they spend their money or time, what energises or saddens them.

Choose one of the things they talk about that relates to Creation and Identity. Have a go at working out some questions you could ask in your next conversation about this.

OR

Choose one of the other topics suggested in the session that we didn't work on in the session.

General question / topic	Specific questions about the heart, feelings and personal impact.	God Question Part A: Questions about values, opinions and the meaning of life.	God Question Part B: Direct questions about God, Creation and Identity.

Session 4

Fall and Brokenness

Sin damages our relationship with God and breaks our bodies, communities, and world. Acknowledging our sin and its consequences.

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 4.

- What did you learn from Linh’s experience of evangelistic conversations?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Fall and Brokenness?

We are continuing to reflect on the main stages of God’s story: Creation, Fall, Redemption and Re-creation.

Last session we looked at Creation and what it tells us about who we are. We looked at it from two perspectives:

- 1) God’s story and what the Bible says about us and our world, and
- 2) My story, and how we know, experience, and live out these truths in our own life.

We connected Creation with everyday words like identity and purpose.

	God’s story: How does the Bible answer these questions?	My story: How do I answer these questions? How do my friends answer these questions?
Creation and Identity	What does Jesus think about us and our world? How does Jesus enable us to be children of God?	Who am I? Who are we? What is my (our) purpose? Why do I matter? Why do you matter?

When we read the Bible, we tend to move from God’s story to Our story. In conversation we tend to move in the opposite direction, from Our story to God’s story.

- Share with the group one of the possible conversation trajectories you worked on in homework. Help each other come up with more or better questions.

This healing is a dramatic illustration of who Jesus is and the work He came to do. Jesus opened the man’s eyes because He is ‘the light of the world’ who does the ‘works of God.’ Yet the Pharisees, in sinful arrogance, denied their need for Jesus and/or evidence of Jesus. Instead, they blindly and futilely trusted their own knowledge and goodness. They accused others of sin while seeking to justify their own. Consequently, they remain guilty of sin, and under God’s judgment, for the way they treated Jesus and other people.

When Adam and Eve rejected their life-giving God, they not only damaged their relationship with Him and each other, they damaged the fabric of creation. We still feel the impact of God’s judgement on their sin, and ours, in our broken bodies, communities and world.

Further, since all of us go through life as both victims and perpetrators of sin, God’s commitment to judge sin is both a source of comfort and threat. A comfort because those who harm us will be held to account. A threat because we too will be held to account for the way we have treated God and others.

Sin and its consequences ripple through every aspect of our lives.

Thank God for the life-giving, light-giving work of Jesus. “He is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not only for ours but also for the sins of the whole world.” (1 John 2:1 NIV)

Our Story: Brokenness – What is wrong with me and the world?

God’s story tells us that the brokenness we experience flows from human sin and God’s judgement on it, and that the right response is to worship Jesus and receive the life, light and forgiveness that He offers.

Our friends might not talk about sin and God’s judgement, but they do know that the world is broken. They ask questions like ‘What is wrong with us?’ and ‘Why can’t we fix things?’. Conversations about guilt and failure, pain and suffering, are an opening for the gospel.

Choose one conversation topic in the table below and use the Conversation Spiral to plot a possible conversation trajectory. If one of your group members is in a real-life conversation about the brokenness of the world, then use that one.

General question / topic	Specific questions about the heart, feelings and personal impact.	God Question Part A: Questions about values, opinions and the meaning of life.	God Question Part B: Direct questions about God, Creation and Identity.

The ideas we have discussed under Fall and Brokenness could connect with conversations about:

- War, disease and suffering.
- Injustice.
- Guilt and shame.
- How good (or bad) people are.
- Anger, bitterness and disappointment.

Share

Today we'll share stories about the evangelistic opportunities God gave us this week. Some might seem like successes; others might feel like failures. Some might be interesting conversations we'd like to pray about and then pick up again in the future.

- What opportunities has God given you to share Jesus with others this week?
- Which people would you like to share Jesus with next week? When will you talk with them?
- Think of (one of) the people you are praying for.
 - What do they complain about, or get angry about?
 - What would they say is 'wrong' with their life and the world?
 - Who do they blame for this brokenness?

Take brief notes to remind you of what to pray for. Consider breaking up into groups of three to four people.

Pray

For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because they have not believed in the name of God's one and only Son.

Session 5

Redemption and Security

Jesus, our creator and king, willingly dies in our place to save us. Trusting Jesus.

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 5.

- What did you learn from Rawle's experience of evangelistic conversations?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Redemption and Security?

In previous sessions we reflected on two stages of God's Story – Creation and Fall – and how we might connect it to our daily conversations. You'll find a summary table at the end of this session.

- To help us revise, share with the group the conversation trajectory you worked on for homework.
- Help each other come up with more or better questions.

God's Story: Redemption

This session we focus on Redemption. God is committed to the world He created. He loves us and frees us from our sin and its consequences through the death and resurrection of Jesus. This is the Bible's answer to the question 'how can I be safe in a broken world?': Jesus can save us.

Each of the gospels spends a lot of time on the last week of Jesus' life. These passion narratives don't just tell us that Jesus died and rose; they also tell us why He died and rose. In doing so, they reveal what kind of King Jesus really is. Read John 18:28-19:16.

1. What happens? Is there anything that surprises you?
2. What type of leaders are Pilate and the Jewish authorities? How would you describe their leadership?

3. Jesus may be the one on trial, but He is actually the one in control of events. Jesus knew He was going to be lifted up on the cross and willingly goes to His death (18:32, See 12:32-33).
 - a. How does the Barabbas episode give us a picture of what Jesus' death means and why Jesus chose to die?

 - b. How does the Passover time stamp (18:28, 19:14) give us a picture of what Jesus' death means and why Jesus chose to die?

Read John 20:19-23.

4. What does King Jesus' death and resurrection achieve for His people?

5. What type of King is Jesus? How would you describe His leadership?

Jesus is a king worth trusting because He is willing and able to save us. No one else can. Jesus' goodness is most clearly seen on the cross when He uses His power to protect and save us rather than Himself. He is the innocent Son who is punished instead of guilty rebels. He is the Passover lamb who offers Himself so that we can be set free from death and judgment.

When we trust Jesus to save us, the risen Christ assures us that peace, forgiveness and the Holy Spirit is ours. This is the message that Jesus sends us to proclaim in the world.

The peace and forgiveness we enjoy ripples out from us and transforms all our relationships.

Our Story: Security – Who or what saves me?

We all trust someone or something to give us security in a broken, uncertain and often unjust world. Who or what we trust differs, our choice might be wise or unwise, but we all trust something.

Conversations about what we trust to protect us and keep us safe are openings for the gospel. God’s story tells us that only Jesus is powerful enough and good enough to provide the security we want and need.

Choose one conversation topic in the table below and use the Conversation Spiral to plot a possible conversation trajectory. If one of your group members is in a real-life conversation about the brokenness of the world, then use that one.

God's Story: Re-creation

This session we look at Re-creation. When we trust that Jesus died for us, our relationship with God is restored. God also promises that Jesus will return to save and to judge, and that when He does, all our relationships will be fully restored. God's story is one of hope for God's people.

In an act that points to His own resurrection, Jesus raises Lazarus from the dead. Read John 11:1-45.

1. What happens? Is there anything that surprises you?

2. Jesus delays His arrival so that Lazarus is dead by the time He arrives. Why? 1-16

Our Story: Hope - What hope is there for the future?

In a world where news stories often focus on looming destruction, people need hope. We need a future that we can dream about, plan for and look forward to. God’s story presents us with a beautiful and optimistic future. How do our friends talk about hope?

Choose a couple of the topics in the table below to discuss together. If one of them is a ‘live’ conversation that one of you is having with a friend now, definitely chose that one! Remember, we are looking for questions that create a conversational bridge that connects the topic to Jesus and the deeper questions of life.

God's Story: Transformation

We have investigated God's story in four stages – Creation, Fall, Redemption, and Re-creation – using stories from John's Gospel and have found that it is, in fact, our story.

Jesus came, lived, died and rose to reconcile us to God, each other, our world, and even ourselves! The deep-seated questions about life, and longings for it to be different, find their answers in God's Story. This session we reflect on how knowing God's love for us in Christ changes us and our lives now. In Jesus' final meal with His disciples, Jesus washes His disciples' feet in an act that points to what He is about to do for them on the cross. Read John 13:1-20, 34-35.

1. What happens? Is there anything that surprises you?

Becoming a Christian changes us and transforms all our relationships. Jesus washed His disciples' feet to show them that, having been loved by Him, they are to love like Him. His death on the cross both enables and models the humble, self-sacrificial love they are to have for each other. It's a love that that they are to offer to others by inviting people to trust Jesus and join us in Christian communities characterised by love.

God's love ripples out from Jesus, to us, and through us to others, while we wait for Jesus to return.

Our Story: How can I change for the better?

Most people know they are 'not perfect', and this gives us an opportunity to talk about how Jesus has changed and is changing us. It could also give us an opportunity to talk about the Jesus we are becoming like. The way we treat others should give people around us an experience of the difference that knowing Jesus makes.

Choose a couple of the topics in the table below to discuss together. If one of them is a 'live' conversation that one of you is having with a friend now, then definitely choose that one! Remember, we are looking for questions that create a conversational bridge that connects the topic to Jesus and the deeper questions of life.

The ideas we have discussed under Transformation and Change could connect with conversations about:

- How and why people change.
- Reaching goals and dreams.
- Who we want to become.
- Structural reform.
- Justice.

Pray

A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another. By this everyone will know that you are my disciples if you love one another.

John 13:34-35 (NIV)

- | Thank God that Jesus loved us and died for us.
- | Ask God to help us form Christian communities that are characterised by love.
- | Ask for opportunities to talk with people about the future we look forward to: a future with Jesus and His people.
- | Thank God and pray for the conversations or friends that people shared about earlier.

God's Story

→ Read Titus 3:3-8.

- Using this passage and our discussion on John 13, have a go at answering these questions:

- How does receiving Jesus' love set me free to love?

- How do we become like Jesus?

- What happens when I fail to be who I should be and want to be?

- How does Jesus create a better community?

The whole story

Sometimes it's useful to use a gospel summary that you can leave with people to refer to later. These give people an outline of all the stages of God's story all at once.

→ Choose two or three gospel summary from the list below. For each one, notice how it tells the story of:

- Creation and Identity. Who am I?
- Fall and Brokenness. What is wrong with the world?
- Redemption and Security. How can I be safe in a broken world?
- Re-creation and Hope. What hope is there for the future?
- Transformation and Change. How can I change for the better?

Session 8

Prayer and Intentionality

*Making the most of our God-given opportunities to share Jesus.
Prayerful and intentional relationships.*

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 8.

- What did you learn from Bronwen's experience of evangelistic conversations?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Prayer and Intentionality?

God's story is the Gospel – that is, the Good News of Jesus. Christians have a God-given identity as children of God; an honest understanding of how we contribute to, and are harmed by, the world's brokenness; eternal security in Christ whatever circumstances face us in this life; and a sure hope that Jesus will return and restore our bodies, relationships, and world.

This Good News changes us. It is Good News that others need to hear.

Consider your homework exercise:

- Which gospel summary did you like most? Why?
- Did any make you feel uncomfortable? Why?
- What are the advantages and disadvantages of using a gospel summary?

Train

In this session, we circle back to where we started:

Because we loved you so much, we were delighted to share with you not only the gospel of God but our lives as well.

1 Thessalonians 2:8 (NIV)

Read Colossians 4:2-6 and 1 Peter 3:15-16.

1. What do these passages tell us about intentional conversations, which seek to share the gospel with people who are not Christian? Consider attitude, manner and content.

a. Colossians 4:2-6

b. 1 Peter 3:15-16.

These passages assume that the way we live and speak will lead people to ask questions about the Jesus we follow. For this to happen, we need to be involved in people’s lives and invite them to be involved in our lives. So that they can see and experience the difference that knowing Jesus can and does make, not just in our lives, but in the lives of Christians more generally.

Intentionality in on-going relationships

The following table invites you to think through ways you can deliberately and intentionally relate to people as a Christian who genuinely loves them. The first three rows are about spending time with people. The last three rows are about conversations with people. In real life the categories overlap.

Work through the following table with one of the people you have been praying for in mind. Try to come up with some specific ideas for how to progress your relationship and conversations prayerfully and intentionally.

	Me Individually	My Christian Community
Love: Acts of service. How can I show love to them in practical ways that they will appreciate?

Social: Casual and fun hangout. How can I spend time with them in everyday ways?
Community: Connecting them. How could I help them get to know my Christian friends?
Questions: Answering questions. How can I answer the questions they have about Jesus?
Jesus: Talking about Jesus. How can I introduce them to the life and teachings of Jesus?
Bible: Reading the Bible How can I encourage them to read the Bible for themselves?

Given what Jesus said about love and Christian community, connecting people to Christians and Christian community is significant. Inviting people to join you in Christian community is important. It gives people a variety of models of Christian living. It shows them the beauty of a community characterised by self-sacrificial love.

- Can you think of more reasons?

Spontaneous conversations

Not all our relationships are long-term. Sometimes you find yourself in conversations with a stranger, or with people you will only see a couple of times.

- What could prayerful intentionality look like for spontaneous and one-off conversations?
