Session 4

Fall and Brokenness

Sin damages our relationship with God and breaks our bodies, communities, and world. Acknowledging our sin and its consequences.

Session Introduction

Watch the introduction video for Session 4.

- What did you learn from Linh's experience of evangelistic conversations?
- What encouraged you about what Sam and Julie-anne said about Fall and Brokenness?

We are continuing to reflect on the main stages of God's story: Creation, Fall, Redemption and Re-creation.

Last session we looked at Creation and what it tells us about who we are. We looked at it from two perspectives:

- 1) God's story and what the Bible says about us and our world, and
- 2) My story, and how we know, experience, and live out these truths in our own life.

We connected Creation with everyday words like identity and purpose.

	God's story: How does the Bible answer these questions?	My story: How do I answer these questions? How do my friends answer these questions?
Creation and Identity	What does Jesus think about us and our world?  How does Jesus enable us to be children of God?	Who am I? Who are we? What is my (our) purpose? Why do I matter? Why do you matter?

When we read the Bible, we tend to move from God's story to Our story. In conversation we tend to move in the opposite direction, from Our story to God's story.

 Share with the group one of the possible conversation trajectories you worked on in homework. Help each other come up with more or better questions.

God's Story: Fall

This session we focus on the second stage of God's story – the Fall. This is the Bible's answer to the question 'what is wrong with the world?' and 'why is the world so broken?'.

ead	John 9. We get a snapshot of life in a broken and dark world.
1.	What happens? Is there anything that surprises you?
2.	What aspects of the world's brokenness has this man experienced?
3.	What sins do we see in the Pharisees?
	a. In their treatment of the man and his parents.
	b. In their opinion of themselves.
	c. In their opinion of Jesus.
4.	In the end, there are two responses to Jesus' life-giving, light-giving work. What are they and what are the consequences of each?
	a. Response 1
	b. Response 2

This healing is a dramatic illustration of who Jesus is and the work He came to do. Jesus opened the man's eyes because He is 'the light of the world' who does the 'works of God.' Yet the Pharisees, in sinful arrogance, denied their need for Jesus and/or evidence of Jesus. Instead, they blindly and futilely trusted their own knowledge and goodness. They accused others of sin while seeking to justify their own. Consequently, they remain guilty of sin, and under God's judgment, for the way they treated Jesus and other people.

When Adam and Eve rejected their life-giving God, they not only damaged their relationship with Him and each other, they damaged the fabric of creation. We still feel the impact of God's judgement on their sin, and ours, in our broken bodies, communities and world.

Further, since all of us go through life as both victims and perpetrators of sin, God's commitment to judge sin is both a source of comfort and threat. A comfort because those who harm us will be held to account. A threat because we too will be held to account for the way we have treated God and others.

Sin and its consequences ripple through every aspect of our lives.

Thank God for the life-giving, light-giving work of Jesus. "He is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not only for ours but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 2:1 NIV)

Our Story: Brokenness – What is wrong with me and the world?

God's story tells us that the brokenness we experience flows from human sin and God's judgement on it, and that the right response is to worship Jesus and receive the life, light and forgiveness that He offers.

Our friends might not talk about sin and God's judgement, but they do know that the world is broken. They ask questions like 'What is wrong with us?' and 'Why can't we fix things?'. Conversations about guilt and failure, pain and suffering, are an opening for the gospel.

Choose one conversation topic in the table below and use the Conversation Spiral to plot a possible conversation trajectory. If one of your group members is in a real-life conversation about the brokenness of the world, then use that one.

General question / topic	Specific questions about the heart, feelings and personal impact.	God Question Part A: Questions about values, opinions and the meaning of life.	God Question Part B: Direct questions about God, Creation and Identity.

MODULE 2 | Jesus & Conversation

The injustice I see in the world makes me angry.	Where do you see injustice?  How have you been affected by injustice?  What other questions could you ask?	What would a just world look like?  Can humans and human courts deliver real justice?  Is there an ultimate justice?  What other questions could you ask?	If there is a God, do you think he is angry at the way people treat him and each other?  Did you know that Jesus was a victim of injustice Himself?  What other questions could you ask?
What goes around comes around.	Why do you say that?  Is this true in your life?  What other questions could you ask?	Do people always get what they deserve?  What other questions could you ask?	If God gives and sustains life, what might he deserve?  What other questions could you ask?
I'm not perfect, but I'm not that bad either.
It's very sad that there are so many wars in the world.

Your own topic –

The ideas we have discussed under Fall and Brokenness could connect with conversations about:

- War, disease and suffering.
- Injustice.
- Guilt and shame.
- How good (or bad) people are.
- Anger, bitterness and disappointment.

Share

Today we'll share stories about the evangelistic opportunities God gave us this week. Some might seem like successes; others might feel like failures. Some might be interesting conversations we'd like to pray about and then pick up again in the future.

- What opportunities has God given you to share Jesus with others this week?
- Which people would you like to share Jesus with next week? When will you talk with them?
- Think of (one of) the people you are praying for.
  - O What do they complain about, or get angry about?
  - What would they say is 'wrong' with their life and the world?
  - O Who do they blame for this brokenness?

Take brief notes to remind you of what to pray for. Consider breaking up into groups of three to four people.

Pray

For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because they have not believed in the name of God's one and only Son.

John 3:17-18 (NIV)

Our passage today reminds us that Jesus needs to open our eyes so that we can see our need for the life and forgiveness that only He can give.

- Thank God for opening our eyes to help us see the forgiveness and healing that Jesus gives us.
- Pray for each of your friends by name: pray that God will open their eyes to their need for Jesus and that He will enable them to come to Him for forgiveness and healing.

Homework God's Story

- $\rightarrow$  Read Mark 7:14-23 and Luke 13:1-8.
  - Using these passages and our discussion on John 9, have a go at answering these questions:
    - o What is wrong with me (us)?

o Why is the world so broken?

o Who is to blame?

O Why can't we fix things?

Our Story

Choose one topic that you talk about with your friend that relates to Fall and Brokenness. Use the Conversation Spiral to work out questions you could ask in your next conversation about this.
